Dear Chairman Wheeler:

I attended "Bay Area Speaks: A People's Hearing on the Future of the Internet" on Nov. 20, 2014. I would like to share my comments with you in writing:

As a researcher in Human Computer Interaction at the University of California Berkeley, I can attest to the user interface necessity of keeping the Internet as a level playing field. Amazon.com showed that simply 100ms of extra latency led to a 1% drop in sales. Google showed that a 400ms delay led to a drop of .33% searches per user. This decrease in usability, in revenue, for Internet-based companies which is brought on by network slowdowns will kill the startup culture and entrepreneurship that thrive in this area.
Please save our Internet and our jobs.
